

Kaufmann & Company

The Fourth Day of Our Progressive Sale

Finds Us Busier Than Ever

Every day greater crowds are attending this Progressive Sale—hundreds of women telling their friends of the innumerable bargains to be found in every department in dependable quality merchandise at unusual price savings.

A Progressive Sale of WAISTS at Great Price Concessions

A PURCHASE OF 1,000 LINGERIE WAISTS, REGULAR $1.00 $2 AND $2.50 VALUES, TO-MORROW.

Forty different styles, that reflect the newest ideas of Paris, on sale in our centre aisle, first floor.

Good waists are so out of the ordinary in style, workmanship and material that you simply cannot afford to miss this sale to-day.

Made of fine quality batiste, high neck, full length sleeve, daintily tucked and designed, with Cluny, Swiss and Val. insertion; others with yoke formed in shadow lace and hand embroidered, forty different styles and all $1.00 sizes, 34 to 44; regular $2.00 and $2.50 values; special.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Meredith Wood, of Old Point Comfort, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margarette Clay, to William Congreve Jackson, of this city, the wedding to take place the first week in December. Mr. Jackson is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Pace, of Richmond, and is a son of the late Bishop Jackson, of Washington and Alabama. The wedding will be one of the early winter social events of Richmond. People will go to Old Point for its celebration. Both Miss Wood and Mr. Jackson are widely related throughout the State. They will make their home there on their return from their honeymoon.

For Miss Jackson.

Miss Mary Irvin Watkins entertained at cards yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, the affair being complimentary to Miss Elizabeth Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Jackson. Decorations were in palms and white chrysanthemums, and a color scheme of green and white was most effectively carried out in every detail. The mantels were arranged with white chrysanthemums, and a slender green vase of white flowers was used on each card table. Only the debutantes of this season were included in the invitations, and five tables were engaged. Miss Watkins, who wore a lavender chrysanthemum draped in chiffon of the same shade and trimmed in real lace, received with the guest of honor, Miss Jackson, who was gowned in very pale pink chrysanthemum, made with an overdress of light blue chiffon spangled in silver and bordered with pink roses. The bride and groom were seated at the head of the table, and the game was concluded tea was served at small tables.

November 29 is the date set for the debut party of Miss Elizabeth Travers Eachee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Eachee, of 317 Floyd Avenue. Miss Eachee will be presented to Richmond society at a ball given by her grandmother, Mrs. J. Hayes, which will be given in the ballroom of the Jefferson Hotel. Guests for the evening will include only the unmarried set here. Miss Eachee's sister, Miss Katherine Eachee, was also introduced at a similar function given by her grandmother last winter, and is one of the most charming girls in society. Both of the girls are lovely, and some very handsome entertaining will be incident to the younger sister's bringing out this winter.

Home Wedding.

A beautiful wedding was celebrated in the Church of the Holy Comforter last evening, when Mrs. Frances Virginia Murray was married to James Herbert Headen. The Rev. A. Vaughan Colston and Dr. J. J. Gravatt, rector of Holy Trinity Church, performed the ceremony and the vested choir, of which the bride is a member, sang the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" as a processional, and Professor Richard C. Sainsbury, who was at the organ, played appropriate selections during the service. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played as the bridal party left the church.

It was a rose wedding, and the church decorations were in roses, palms and candelas, past pink roses prevailing. The bride wore a lovely white princess satin gown made with a long train and trimmed in rose point lace. Her wedding veil was her grandmother's rose embroidered lace veil, and fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a presentation bouquet of white roses and entered the church with her cousin, George T. King, who gave her away. Her maid of honor, Miss Elira Ellington, and her bridesmaid, Miss Sadie Thornton, wore draped pink chiffon dresses caught with sprays of rosebuds, and they carried arm bouquets of white roses. Miss Virginia Spicer and Miss Hazel Brown, two little cousins of the bride, were flower girls and wore dainty pink frocks and scattered rose petals from French baskets in front of the bride. Captain Charles W. Parrish was the groom's best man and the ushers included Reginald Walker, Charles Ruehrmund, Clifford L. Walker and William S. Henning. Mr. and Mrs. Headen have gone North on their wedding trip, and will be at home after November 20 at 2109 Hanover Avenue.

For Miss Clemmer.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Clotier will entertain at a card party for the debutantes on Tuesday evening, November 12, at 8:30 o'clock, in honor of their niece, Miss Elizabeth Clemmer, of Silver Brook, who is to be introduced to Richmond society this winter. The girls have been invited to play cards from 4:30 until 10 o'clock, when the men will come in and supper will be served at small tables about 11 o'clock. It will be one of the handsomest affairs given for the debutantes this season.

Invitations Out.

Invitations have been received in Richmond for the wedding of Miss Margaret Ashley Short, sister of Henry Blount Short, to Thomas Garrett Tabb, the ceremony to take place on Thursday evening, November 21, at 8 o'clock, in St. James Church, at Wilmington, N. C. Mr. Blount will give a reception for the bride and groom immediately after the ceremony at his home, 729

South Third Street, Wilmington, to which several hundred guests have been invited. Mr. Tabb and his bride will be at home at the Chestersford after January 1. Among the bridesmaids will be Miss Wilson, daughter of President-elect Woodrow Wilson, and a special train will carry the guests from Richmond attending the wedding. Miss Short's father was identified with the Atlantic Coast Line Railway and she is a niece of Bishop Strange, of North Carolina.

Marshall-Riton.

The marriage of Miss Josephine Riton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Andre Riton, and Dr. Otto Marshall will take place this evening at the home of the bride in Crews at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. T. H. Lacy will officiate and an elaborate musical program will be rendered just before the entry of the bridal party by Miss Hannah Cook, of Roanoke; Miss Sally Garland, of Crews; and Miss Louise Jenkins, of Richmond. Miss Cook and Miss Garland will play the wedding march. The house will be decorated in quantities of autumn flowers, and the long drawing room, where the ceremony will take place, will be arranged with palms and ferns and pink and white roses. The staircase, down which the bride and her maid of honor will come, will be hung with smilax and autumn leaves and great jars of yellow chrysanthemums will decorate the hall. The dining room will be decorated in pink roses and white chrysanthemums and an immense silver bowl of roses will be used as a centerpiece for the table. The bride's wedding gown is a white crepe meteor and brocade of chiffon and it is made with duchess lace and pearls. The veil will be arranged with pearls and edged with real lace and she will carry a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She will wear a pearl bar pin, the gift of the bridegroom, as her only ornament, and Mr. Riton will give his bride away. Miss Nathalie Reynold, of Key West, Fla., who will be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, will be gowned in white net embroidered in blue and silver and made over white satin. She will carry La France roses. J. Taylor Twyman, of Charleston, S. C., will enter the groom at the door. A reception will be held immediately after the ceremony, and Miss Ruth Smithson, of Crews, and Miss Nan Lang, of Wilmington, Del., will preside at the punch bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will leave on the midnight train for Asheville, N. C., where they will spend their honeymoon. The bride will travel in a dark blue ratine suit with a hat to match.

Guests from a distance attending the ceremony are Mrs. Oliver M. Edwards, Miss Amy Edwards, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Mrs. C. A. Carpenter, Miss Carpenter, Miss Margaret Carpenter, of Norfolk; Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carpenter, of Yorkers, N. C.; Miss Eleanor Jacobs, of Wilmington, Del.; Miss Mary Holman, of Pomero; J. N. Cook, Miss Cook, Toledo, O.; Katherine and Emma Cook, Wilson Cook, of Roanoke; Miss Elizabeth Marshall, of Charlottesville; Miss Gertrude Marshall, Mrs. G. N. G. Lang, of Barboursville; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Jenkins, Miss Louise Jenkins, Miss Mary Jenkins, of Richmond; Miss Mary Bird, Misses Reynold, of Key West, Fla.; Nathalie Reynold, of Farmville; Mr. and Mrs. William Land, of Blackstone; Hamilton Smith, of Brandy; Nestor Wampler, of Culpeper; J. T. Roberts, of Charlottesville; Rufus C. Hancock, Culpeper; Mr. and Mrs. Lynchburg. The and C. N. May, of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Marshall, of Barboursville.

Nashville Wedding.

The Nashville Banner of recent issue contains the following of interest to the groom's relatives here: "Decorated with ascension lilies and filled with guests, Christ Church was the scene Saturday afternoon of one of the most beautiful weddings ever solemnized before its altar, when Miss Helen Bell and Rev. Joseph Lyons Archdeacon of Arizona, were married. The bride's family has been for generations identified closely with the life and activities of Christ Church, and Mr. Meade, a descendant of a distinguished Bishop Meade, of Virginia, is a leader among the younger prelates of the Episcopal Church, his work having been bold, earnest and significantly successful. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by Rev. H. J. Aikell, and was preceded by an organ program by Professor F. A. Henkel and a violin number, "By the Borders of the River," given by Alfred E. Howell. Elaborate arrangements of white lilies decorated the altar, on which the bride wore a white satin headpiece and a gown of white satin and tulle, and the bride's train was edged with tulle and marked the line of reserved pew.

The ushers were Rev. J. Francis McCord, assistant rector of Christ Church; Frank Carl Stahlman, John M. Gray, Jr., R. T. Wilson, Alex. G. Hunter, E. A. Lindsey, Hamilton S. Woodruff, and Robin J. Cooper, and were followed by the maid of honor, the bride's younger sister, Miss Mary Woods Bell. The best man, Rev. John B. Cannon, rector of Grace Church, Memphis, attended the bridegroom, who entered from the choir door. "The bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, George A. Washington, and was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Stanley Bell. Her wedding gown was a creation of heavy white satin and old point lace, trimmed elaborately with garlands of orange blossoms. A pointed train was caught with clusters of flowers, and a chaplet of the orange buds confined the veil of point lace. Her bouquet was of white heather, fringed with fragrant white jasmine, which has been the chosen flower for bridal bouquets of the beautiful women of the Woods family. Her only ornament was a diamond necklace, and she wore a pair of pearls and a brooch. Mrs. Bell wore a Paris toilette of brocade blue and pink pompadour silk. It was made after an old French model, with a deep pink Watteau trimmed in silver and small pink rosebuds. Her blue silk hat had a wreath of pink roses, and satin slippers matched the shade of a purple heather bouquet. Sprays of white and purple heather were worn as boutonnières by the bridegroom and the best man, respectively, matching the bouquets of the bride and her maid of honor. Buttonhole sprays of lilies of the valley were worn by the ushers. "The bride's mother wore a black cashmere silk, with a black throat lace overdress and a throat lace bonnet. She was escorted into the church by her young nephew, Mr. Robert Woods, who wore a black velvet suit with white lace collar and cuffs. James Trimble, who in black tulle-trimmed with crepe and a crepe bonnet. She was escorted by her son, James Trimble. "Mrs. George A. Washington's gown was an imported golden brown velvet and chiffon trimmed with gold, and a small brown velvet hat trimmed with a bird of paradise. Mrs. G. A. Washington wore a black dress.

Now is the Time to Buy Men's Underwear

Men's Grey Wool Underwear, as good as the usual $1.50 grade, here for $1.00

Men's Grey Half Wool Underwear, $1.00 value, here for 75c

All-Wool Red Underwear, sale price, $1.00

Warm Fleece Lined Underwear, sale price, 50c

Elastic Ribbed Underwear, strong, tough wearing kind; per garment 50c

real lace, with a black velvet picture hat. "The bridegroom's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Spier Whitaker, of Birmingham, and his aunt, Miss Williams, of Birmingham, represented his connection. The bridegroom wore a handsome gold-colored chrysanthemum combined with real lace and bands of brown fur. A black velvet plumed hat completed the toilette. Miss Williams wore a black crepe meteor and princess lace, with a black velvet hat. "The ceremony was followed by a reception at 2000 West End Avenue, where Mrs. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Washington and Miss Marina Bell received. The company was limited to relatives, the wedding party and a few close friends. The reception rooms were decorated with white lilies, and lilies also were used decoratively on the wedding cake and confections. The table was arranged with a centerpiece of lilies in a tall silver pitcher and silver service for coffee and ice at either end. The table cover was of Venetian point lace. "Rev. and Mrs. Meade left on the evening train for a Southern and Western wedding trip, making several stops en route to Williams, where they will enter the Grand Canyon. After December 1 they will be at home at Flanagan, which Mr. Meade has selected as his place of residence and where a charming bungalow has been recently completed and made ready for them. Mrs. Meade wore for traveling a dark blue whipcord tailored gown trimmed with silk braid, and a small black velvet hat finished with white aligrette.

To Entertain To-Night.

The Southern German Club will give a social affair this evening at 9 o'clock at the Conservatory of Music Hall, corner of Laurel and Broad Streets. A number of new members have been added to the club, and the entertainment this evening will be a most attractive and interesting event.

Marriage of Mrs. Maggie L. Gilliam and Captain Henry B. Roberts was celebrated on Tuesday morning, November 5, at 9 o'clock, at the home of John M. Brown, in Pulaski County, near New River Depot. The Rev. Durey Holladay, pastor of the River View Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony, and after a wedding breakfast Captain and Mrs. Roberts left for their home in Washington County, near Abingdon.

Dead and Out of Town.

Mrs. L. D. Hamilton has returned to Petersburg after a visit to relatives in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Traylor are registered at the Aster Hotel, in New York City, for several days.

Miss Emma Leigh, of Danville, is the guest of friends here for a short stay.

Mrs. W. W. Brockman, Mrs. F. E. Williams and Mrs. F. M. Hill, of Charlottesville, are spending a few days in this city.

Mrs. Bessie Bowe, of this city, is a guest of her mother at the University of Virginia.

Mrs. E. C. Hathaway, of Norfolk, will arrive here to-day to visit Mrs. Buchanan.

Durham Withers, who has been ill for several weeks at Grace Hospital with typhoid fever, is greatly improved and hopes to be out within a fortnight.

James-Ramey.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Culpeper, Va., November 6.—Miss Helen Ramey, the daughter of Mrs. Lucy Ramey, was married in the Episcopal Church here at 4:30 o'clock this evening to William Henry Jones. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. W. Winfree, D. D., the pastor of the church. Mrs. Wm. Jennings was at the organ. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and candelas. The bride was attended by the Rev. Powell Miller, rector of the Episcopal Church of Jones, of Richmond, was his brother's best man. The four ushers were Malver Hill, of Richmond; Harry Varner, of the University of Virginia; P. Mercer Jones and Carrington Watkins, of Culpeper. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left on a late train for an extended Northern tour, and on their return will reside in their home on Spencer Street.

Chisholm-Walkley.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Taylorville, Va., November 6.—In the presence of a large number of guests, the marriage of Miss Margaret E. Chisholm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Chisholm, of Taylorville, and Miss Corinne Clyde Walkley, of Taylorville, was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chisholm, at 12 o'clock Wednesday. Rev. W. D. Brenner officiating. The parlor was beautifully decorated. The bride wore a gown of white tulle and lace, and the groom wore a tuxedo. The ceremony was attended by a large number of guests, and the wedding party was composed of the bride's and groom's families. The bride's maid of honor was Miss Mary Chisholm, and the groom's best man was Mr. J. Chisholm. The wedding party left for a tour of the North on the noon express for Washington, New York, Niagara Falls, Toronto and other points. On returning Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm expect to reside in Richmond.

Stewart-Wright.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Pungotown, Va., November 6.—A very pretty marriage took place at high noon to-day, when Miss Margaret E. Wright, the daughter of Mr. Virginia Hickman, became the bride of Clement E. Stewart, of Norfolk. The bride's party, after dinner at the bride's home, were driven to Keller in an automobile, where they took the south-bound train for the home of the groom.

Belmont in Auto Accident.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Richmond, Va., November 6.—An automobile driven by Lawrence Belmont, a well-known driver, was involved in a collision with a truck on the Valley Pike, about 4 miles west of the city. The car turned over on its side, and the driver, Belmont, was seriously injured. The truck was driven by John Smith, and the collision occurred at the intersection of the two roads. The car was a 1912 model, and the truck was a heavy-duty model. The accident occurred at about 10:30 a.m. The car was damaged beyond repair, and the truck was also damaged. Belmont was taken to the hospital, and his condition is serious. Smith was not injured in the collision. The cause of the accident is being investigated by the police.

QUEEN REMEMBERED

KINDNESS TO FAHER

Young Sir John Wood Owes Baronetcy to Victoria's Sentiment.

BY LA MARQUESE DE FONTENAY.

YOUNG Sir John Wood owes the baronetcy to which he has just succeeded at the age of fifteen to a sentiment of gratitude on the part of Queen Victoria, it having been one of the first honors that she bestowed, after her accession to the throne. It was granted by her to Sir Matthew Wood, twice Lord Mayor of London.

It was the $50,000 advanced without security by Matthew Wood to the Duke and Duchess of Kent, which enabled them to leave the German town in which they were living, and to come to England in time for the birth of their daughter, afterwards Queen Victoria. In view of the well known ambition of her uncle, Ernest Duke of Cumberland, to secure the throne of England, supported as he was by a considerable portion of the Tory aristocracy, and by the Order of Orange, of which he was the grand master, it was a matter of the utmost importance in connection with Queen Victoria's accession, that she should be born on English soil, and it was Matthew Wood who alone rendered this possible.

Nor was this the only occasion on which Matthew Wood came to the financial assistance of the Duke and Duchess of Kent. For when the duke died suddenly at Weymouth, Queen Victoria being but nine months old at the time, it was Matthew Wood who paid off his local creditors, and thus enabled the removal of his remains to London, which the local tradesmen had prevented until the satisfaction of their claims.

Queen Victoria never forgot this treatment of her dead father and of her widowed mother by the people of Weymouth. The town had until then been one of the most fashionable of seaside resorts, owing to the patronage of royalty. Queen Victoria not only put a stop to this patronage from the time of her accession to the throne, but she went so far as to dissuade people from going there, so that it entirely lost its vogue and much of its former prosperity.

Royalty in distress appealed to Sir Matthew Wood. For it was he who took the unfortunate Queen Caroline under his protection on the occasion of her last visit to London, who accorded her the hospitality of his metropolitan residence, and championed her cause in the most generous fashion, at the reduced rate Washington, D. C., United Daughters of the Confederacy, Round trip from Richmond, $4.25. Tickets sale November 8th to 14th, inclusive. Final limit December 1, 1912. For further information apply to any R. F. & P. R. agent or the undersigned.

W. P. TAYLOR, Traffic Manager.

(Advertisement.)

Stieff

PIANOS

The Finest Made.

E. G. RICE, Manager, 117 West Broad.

Better School Shoes for the Money—at

Leymour Cycle

117 West Broad.

Drumstick & Co.

201 East Broad Street.

Special displays of new fall styles in Women's Apparel.

Cole's Hot Blast Heaters at

Jones Bros. & Co., Inc.

1418-1420 E. Main St.

J. B. Mosby & Co.

Reduced prices on new Tailored Suits.

Hopkins Furniture Co.

7 West Broad St.

Cash or Credit.

School Shoes.

"The Kid Shoe West."

112-114 West Broad Street.

Chisholm

W. W. Corner Third and Broad.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY of packing household goods and cases for shipment.

Rountree-Sutherland-Cherry Corporation

112-114 West Broad Street.

REINACH, Inc.

107 E. BROAD STREET

MILLINERY—Women's and Misses' Outer Apparel.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE

New Model Gas Ranges

—AT—

PETTIT & COS.

risk of the displeasure of his sovereign, George IV.

Sir Matthew Wood's second son became lord chancellor, being at the same time raised to the peerage, as Lord Hatherly, and it is said that when he received the news of the death of the Queen, he recalled to him how much she and her parents owed to the kindness of his father.

Other members of the Wood family are Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, K. C., and his sister, who after marrying Captain William Henry O'Shea, of the Eighteenth Hussars, died as the widow of the great Irish leader, Charles Stewart Parnell. Their niece, Miss Wood, married the only son of H. M. Bradhurst, of New York.

Young Sir John Wood, the new baronet, does not succeed to any property, but he is to receive the early fortune of Sir Matthew Wood has entirely vanished. His remnants disappeared in the bankruptcy of the fourth baronet, who was a poor man, and the fine Hatherly House estate at Gloucestershire, from which Lord Chancellor Hatherly took his title, passed out of the family.

The daughter of the first baronet's wife, Maria Lady Wood, is still borne to this day by the state barge of the City of London, which the chief magistrates of the city are assigned to the command of half of the Victorian era, when they proceeded to Westminster in state, by water, on the day of their inauguration.

Grandduke Cyril of Russia, who stands third in the line of succession to the throne, is once more in trouble with his cousin, the Czar. The latter insists that the prince of his blood should hold commissions either in the army or the navy, should at any rate make a pretense of fulfilling their duties in connection therewith.

Recently the grandduke, who has not done any service in the navy since the sinking of the Petropavlovsk at the entrance of Port Arthur eight years ago, was called upon to go to sea and to command the command of the cruiser Oleg, with directions to cruise about on her for a period of eight months preliminary to his advancement to the rank of admiral.

Cyril, who has been dividing his time between Paris, the South of France, his mother-in-law's palace at Coburg, and his own palace at St. Petersburg, with no care beyond that of his household, a fascinating wife, the divorced ex-Grandduchess of Hesse, did not relish the idea of being cooped up on board a cruiser for several months, separated from his family and from his friends, far away from his accustomed haunts, and the pleasures to which he was habituated.

So after taking up the command of the vessel left port, declared that he was sufficiently ill to need the advice of physicians. The result was that owing to the exertions which he had undergone in connection with the preparation of the Oleg for its long cruise, which he sustained in the sinking of the Petropavlovsk eight years ago, it was absolutely necessary for the good of his health that he should be allowed a complete rest for several months in a temperate climate, preferably in the South of France. In consequence of this the grandduke was assigned his command, and he rejoined his wife and children in Paris, preparatory to going to the Riviera for the winter.

The grandduke, who, like his late father, Vladimir, is a handsome man, was not rounded, as so many people appear to believe, in the sinking of the Petropavlovsk off Port Arthur. It may be recalled that the ship struck a mine and sank, carrying down with her Admiral Makharoff and the painter Verestchagin, who was also on the vessel. Only two officers of those on board, numbering about 100 officers and men, escaped, by coming to the surface and hanging on to pieces of wreckage. Among the number was Grandduke Cyril.

When the Czar finally, at the instance of the late King Edward and of his aunt, Queen Alexandra, reluctantly consented to pardon his other cousin, Grandduke Michael, Michaelaievitch, and to restore him to his prerogatives as a prince of the blood and to his rank in the army, at the same time repealing the order of banishment which had been issued against him, he subsequently demanded that Michael, who had been so long absent from Russia, should rejoin his regiment, stationed at Kiev, and put in a term of duty therewith, so as to qualify himself for promotion.

The grandduke was perfectly ready to do this, but his morganatic wife, Countess Terby, for marrying whom he had quarrelled with all his family, would not hear of burying herself in a provincial Russian town, so far away from the pleasures of Paris, London and the South of France. As a result, he once more incurred the displeasure of the emperor, and will remain to all intents and purposes an exile from his native land, having to content himself with the military rank and uniform of a mere captain.

(Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company.)

Pennell-Green.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

South Boston, Va., November 6.—Trinity Episcopal Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Elizabeth Alexander Green and Charles Anderson Pennell, both of this place. Bishop Clinton G. Pennell, of Norfolk, was officiating. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. G. Lane, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church. The wedding march was rendered by Mr. N. W. Berkeley, of Danville, Charles Pennell, of Boston, and "Because" previous to the ceremony. The church had been tastefully decorated with shaded pink lilies, white chrysanthemums, ferns, palms, cut flowers, and huge bunches of pink chrysanthemums, tied with pink tulle, marked the pews which were reserved for the family, relatives and their friends.

The bridesmaids were Misses Louise, Ruth and Elizabeth Pennell, of this place; Miss Annie Hamilton, of Boston; Miss Mary Knapp, of Richmond, and Mrs. C. A. Joubert, of Amherst. The bride entered with her brother, Thomas Green, of New York. The groomsmen were W. Owen Wilson and Dr. George A. Storer, of South Boston; Lock Everett, of Monroe, N. C.; L. H. Carter, Jr., of Norfolk; N. C.; Dr. Griffith Monroe, N. C.; and Robert Hanks of Pittsburgh, Pa. The ushers were V. L. Powell, E. H. Drake, F. H. Drake, and Dr. H. S. Bell. Mrs. F. R. Edmondson, sister to the bride, was matron of honor. Little Maria Pennell was flower girl. Friends of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Pennell will be home to their friends in South Boston.

SMITH ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Gloucester Courthouse, Va., November 6.—The November term of court opened at Gloucester to-day and the first case called was the Commonwealth vs. Joseph Smith, for the murder of his seventeen-year-old wife. Smith lives near Marys Post-office, in a section of Gloucester commonly known as Guinea. He and his wife were driving home from Severn Ward on an excursion to Norfolk on July 4, when they began a quarrel which resulted in Smith shooting his wife. There were several witnesses to the crime. The attorney for the defense are J. N. Stubbs and J. L. Talliferro, and C. B. Smith, the Commonwealth's attorney, assisted by J. Boyd Sears of Matthews, representing the Commonwealth.

The case was examined this afternoon, and the case will probably be decided by Friday noon.

FLUVANNA FAIR WILL OPEN TO-DAY

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Wilmington, Va., November 6.—The Fluvanna County Fair will be held at Palmyra on Thursday and Friday this week. This is the fourth annual exhibition, and it promises to be better than ever before. The number of exhibits is large and from over the whole county. Features of the fair will be a stock exhibit, grain, vegetable, fruit, poultry, canned goods and dairy products. There will also be a grand tournament. Hon. J. Alston Cabell, of Richmond, will deliver the charge to the knights, and Hon. Pembroke Foster will crown the queen. One of the new features of the fair will be a spelling contest entered into by the pupils of the public schools of the county.

I Was Compelled to Use Hypnotism from my suffering with Sciatic Rheumatism, with which I was troubled for six years. Eighteen months ago I took five bottles of Milam, and have since had no symptoms of sciatica.—Geo. F. McMillen, Tip Top, Va.—Advertisement.

Daisy

Save These Labels

son 1657—how to get this

$8.00 24-pc. Tea Set

AMERICAN BREAD AND BAKING CO.

2 East Loch Street.

Wedding Flowers

ROBERTSON

RICHMOND, VA.

Tragle's

The best 25c Tooth Brush in town at Tragle's Drug Store for 10c.

DETROIT GAS RANGES, ALASKA REFRIGERATORS, OLD MEXICO FURNITURE, SOLD ONLY BY

JURGENS

A Hamilton Watch $15.00 and up.

The world's best at the price.

Smith & Webster

Time Specialists. 612 E. Main.

Office Furniture

Sydner & Handley, Inc.,

Grace and Seventh